early, and especially in such damaging and cangerous localities as people so circumstanced must of necessity imadit.

Father Farrelly, the pastor of St. James' church, has been untiring in his citoris to minister to the wants and wishes of the people of his congregation and to increase their ardor by giving them a beautified church in which to attend civine service, and to creat a commodious and elegant school building in when their children might be taught the way they should go in managing the affairs of life while obeying the will and fonowing the notiseps of the founder of their latth. Those who are at all acquainted with that section of the city cannot fail to know the timense opposition against which the priests of St. James' parish must contend—the influence of wealth on one hand and the fascinations of vice on the other; but shey have persevered in their efforts and in a few short months will have the satisfaction of behoding the completion of a school edifice which will stand as a fitting incomment to the indomitable energy of their pastor, Pather Farrelly, and which will prove to be at once an ornament and a means of conveying a biessing to the neighborhood. This edifice is now in course of construction at the southeast corner of New Bowery and James street, extending on the former one hundred and eleven it et and on the latter eighty-three rest. The building will be four stories in the clear, have a fancily influence of which and a playeround for the schoolar free stone, in a style not coming under any particular arcantecural denomination, but presenting a neat and graceful appearance to the eye, while imparting soliday to the structure itself. The basement will be devoted to the purposes of an industrial school and a playground for the schoalers, while myarting soliday to the structure itself. The basement will be devoted to the purpose of an industrial school and a playground for the schoalers. The neating will be found to give additional advantages to fine process of ventilating and figuring. Ther market, and the building, when compiece, will be found well worth the care and expense which it has entailed upon its projectors.

The purpose of Father Farrelly in creating an industrial school is to afford a refuge for children of watowed parents, or of others who may be obliged to be absent from them during the day—a place in which the children can be left by the parents in the morning as they go to their several places of employment, where they will be fed and clothed, if necessary, and properly cared for until the parents call for them again in the evening. In the other departments the pupils will be under the direction of the Bisters of charity and the Christian Brothers, and will receive all the care and cutture that the members of these orders know so well how to bestow.

The building was commenced in the carry part of October last, and the work has been pushed ahead as vigorously as the unsettled state of the weather would permit, and will be ready for occupation at the close on the ordinary summer vacation.

The entire cost of ground and building will be Bomething over 100,000, and to meet this demand Pather Farrelly has been working unminchingly. His appears thus fur have been favorably responded to, and there can be little doubt of his complete success in establishing the school on a sound basis, free from debt, and filling a sphere of great uscillness.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY CAUSED BY SHAM ARCHITURE.

Terrible Finale of a Fenian Meeting in Chicago—The Floor of the Hall Gives Way

Ghicago was revisited by another terrible calamity last evening. Following close upon the Sea Bird disaster, the panic in St. Mary's church and the fragnati fall of buildings upon State Street, comes yet another addition to the list of catastrophes, involving terrible personal injury and loss of life. The accident of last night was the result of the giving way of an insufficiently supported floor upon which were congregated hundreds of men, all of whom were pecupicated in an instant and with a terrible crush in a confused and struggling mass many feet below. This terrible accident constitutes yet another argument to those already waged against the practice toommon in this city of rectain light bancon traines near to mose arready waged against the practice too common in this city of erecting light bancon rannes for bandings, when it is known that these same buildings may at some time be called upon to su-tain the immense weight of a crowded and ence. The scene of the disaster was known as Healy's buildings may at some time be called upon to sustain the immense weight of a crowded audience.

The scene of the disaster was known as Healy's Hali, and was located in one of the most populous precents of Archer avenue. It was a two story frame structure, owned by a man whose name, in the consuson incident to the accident last evening, it was impossible to ascertain, and was rented by Messrs. Healy & Fox. The lower portion of the structure was used as a saloon, walle the second story had been fitted up as a hali, thirty by seventy-two feet in area, and capable of containing an audience of nearly or quite one thousand persons.

Last evening the hall was densely packed with members of the Fen.an organization and their frames. It had been announced that General O'Neal, President of the Brotherhood, would be present to address the members of the order, and urge upon Irishmen the importance of the cause they were seeking to maintain. The announcement drew forth representatives from every circle of the order in the South division, and, at the hour appointed for the commencement or the exercises the hall was so densely sited that it was almost impossible to obtain standing to m.

commencement or the exercises the hall was so densely alted that it was almost impossible to obtain standing ro m.

Some preliminary business had been transacted, and one of the speakers arose to address the assemblage. He had scarcely begun his address the assemblage. He had scarcely begun his address when a terrible crash ensued, and in an instant, amid the widest cries, the crash of falling and breaking timbers, the mass of human beings were precipitated to the lower floor. That giving way in its turn from the limitense pressure and accumulated weight, the struggling, frante beings were permitted to descend to the ground, where, crushed and mangled, they cried for aid or strove to release themselves from their terrible position.

The scene beggars description. Hardly a house in the beginbothood but had one or more representatives in the assembly, and, as it news always travels fastest, but a few moments chapsed before all were informed of the catastrophe. In addition to the grouns of those impaired by the failing and spinnered tumbers were the shricks of the wives, calibren and other relatives of the sufferers calling upon them in the most endearing terms of anection, not knowing whether they were alive or not. An immense crowd codected, and, panic-stricken, impeded rather than facilitated the work of releasing the sufferers from the ruins, and it was hours before the work was inny accomplished.

The name of the man known to have been killed

The rains, and it was bounded to the work was alligate on principled.

The name of the man known to have been killed was Patrick Ryan, a laborer, who lived at 118 Heckey street. From the position in which he was Bound it was supposed that he was struck by a failing joist, and that death was instantaneous. He was thirty four years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

was thirty four years of age and two children.

The following is a partial list of the wounded:—
Thomas beams, who resides at the corner of Archer avenue and May street; dangerous cut in left hip. It was feared that the femoral artery was severed. He was taken home in an insensible conserver of Archer avenue.

Nicholas Conlon, residence corner of Archer avenue; and Quinn street; severe contusion in the head and breast, and, it was feared, seriously injured internally.

Michael Higgins, residence 552 Archer avenue; head severely contused and one knee dislocated.

Charles Kawanagh, residence on Bonfield street, near the railroad crossing; hip fractured by jumping out of the window.

Patrick Murphy, residence No. 533 Archer avenue; head severely contused, hip fractured and ankie dislocated.

Richard Brown, resides at No. 550 Archer avenue; two ribs broken, and internal injuries of a very dangerous character.

Daniel Murphy, residence No. 610 Archer avenue;
injuries in the head.

Timothy O'Callaghan, No. 417 Archer avenue; dislocation of hips and ankles.

Mike Delancy, 596 Archer avenue; both legs frac-

Mike Delaney, 596 Archer avenue; both legs fractured.

The foregoing is only a partial list of those who suffered serious injuries, and further investigations will undoubtedly swell the list to scores, and possibly hundreds.

The lesson taught by this fearful calamity is very obvious, and should it be the means of condemning the sham style of architecture so long is vogue in the city, and still so fearfully prevalent here, though a fearful price has been paid for the information that human lives are thereby endangered, the catastrophe will not have been without its beneficial results.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—A terrible case of human spontaneous combustion, which resulted in death, has just taken place in Cleveland, Ohio. The name of the man was Bremer. We learn that he drank on a wager six large drinks of whiskey and a pint of stock aie at a sitting. With blazing face and starting eyes he then recled towards a gas jet, in order to light his pipe, when the noxious gasses issuing from his mouth were instantly ablaze, and the poor wretch was soon being consumed by an inward fire.
